

I would like to make my feelings known on this issue. Indiana's no-call list has been a blessing as it stands. I have NO desire to see it modified or changed in any way. The concerned banks, that have filed for this proceedings, are self serving and desire to only promote their product (service). If I have need of any of these services I am well aware of how to contact them. I DO NOT wish for them to contact me before I have discovered a need for service. I am thus encouraging the adjourning body to deny this request by the CBA to dilute Indiana's telephone privacy law.

Thank you,
Michael Weddle
